In His Sights by Kate Brennan

The line between love and obsession is explored in this harrowing memoir, in which a woman -- whose life was destroyed by a man who crossed that line -- battles to escape his grasp.

"No matter what else happens, my life will always be divided into three parts: before him, with him, and after him".

Sexual Predator Stalking Women Near American University

NewsChannel 8, Arlington, VA, July 21, 2008 - American University is nestled in a mostly quiet residential part of Northwest Washington, where crime is infrequent. That's what makes the rash of assaults all the more unsettling.

Police say it was the same American University student victimized in the last two attacks. Investigators believe one man is responsible for all four incidents. The attacker allegedly surprises his victims from behind and gropes them. In at least one case, he tried to drag the woman behind some nearby trees. She screamed and broke free.

Establishing Local Stalking Resource Centers

Feel Safe Again, Inc. is reaching out to local universities and colleges throughout Massachusetts and New Hampshire communities to establish on- campus Stalking Resource Centers, as well as creating several credited stalking courses for students.

This would require donated office space and intern support. If you would like to schedule a meeting to discuss this potentially life-saving opportunity, please contact us at 1-888-99B-SAFE or by e-mail at src@feelsafeagain.org.

In collaboration with the Kiwanis Club of Hudson, New Hampshire, we will be offering our SMART-Kid (TM) Project safety and stalking awareness coloring book, crayons, pencil, and sticker to all children again this year at Old Home Days in Hudson, from August 8-10, 2008.

Each parent will also receive our Child Identification Kit to be completed and kept in a safe place. This very important, potentially life-saving information will assist law enforcement officials if their child is ever abducted.
